5 Conditions

Important note: The Trustee collects the information in this form for the purpose of updating the information it holds about you. The information provided in this form will be used in accordance with the Privacy Policy at www.ioof.com.au/privacy.

When you have nominated a beneficiary and the nomination is legally binding, the Trustee must act in accordance with that nomination. Commonwealth Government regulations have imposed strict conditions on how a binding death nomination must be made, amended or revoked. The following conditions apply to binding death nominations of beneficiaries:

- You must be 18 years of age or over to make a valid and legally binding death nomination.
- Nominations, amendments and revocations can only be accepted on a form that is approved by the Trustee. This form is an approved form.
- A beneficiary must be your Legal Personal Representative (on behalf of your estate), your spouse (includes de facto and same sex spouse), your child or your spouse's child, any person who is financially dependent on you or any person with whom you have an interdependency relationship. For the nomination to remain valid you must still be financially dependent or in the same interdependency relationship at the date of your death.
- If you want to nominate more than four beneficiaries, you must complete and attach an additional form.
- For each beneficiary, you must specify the proportion of your benefit they are to be paid. The total benefit must have been allocated by you on the form (or forms, if you have nominated more than four people). If your allocation does not total 100 percent, the entire nomination will be invalid.
- The nomination must be signed and dated by you in the presence of two witnesses, both of whom must be at least 18 years of age and not nominated as beneficiaries.
- You may also indicate whether you would prefer the death benefit payment to be made in the form of a lump sum or pension. Please note your preferred form of payment is not binding on the Trustee. In addition, the Trustee cannot pay a death benefit in the form of a pension to your Legal Personal Representative, and certain beneficiaries are only able to be paid a death benefit in the form of a lump sum. Please see the PDS for further details.

- Your nomination remains valid for three years from the date it is made. The Trustee will attempt to contact you before the expiry date of your nomination to give you the opportunity to confirm or amend your nomination. It is your responsibility to keep your nomination up to date and confirm it every three years. Where your nomination is valid and in effect at the date of your death, the Trustee must pay your death benefits in accordance with your nomination. If your personal circumstances and those of your beneficiaries have changed, you should complete a new form.
- Your nomination may be amended at any time by submitting a new approved form to the Trustee. If an amendment is made, the nomination will be valid for three years from the date the amending nomination is signed.
- If my nomination is not valid for any reason or has expired at the date of my death, it will be treated as a Non-Binding Death Benefit Nomination.

5 Your duty of disclosure

You have a duty under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984 to disclose to the Trustee and the Insurer every matter that you know or could reasonably be expected to know, that is relevant to the Insurer's decision whether to accept the risk of insurance and, if so, on what terms.

You have the same duty to disclose those matters to the Insurer or Trustee before you apply:

- to vary your existing insurance cover;
- for new cover; or
- for any lapsed cover to be reinstated.

Your duty, however, does not require disclosure of a matter that:

- diminishes the risk to be undertaken by the Insurer;
- · is common knowledge;
- the Insurer knows or, in the ordinary course of their business, ought to know; or
- the Insurer has waived.

Your duty of disclosure continues until the insurance cover has been accepted by the Insurer and confirmation is issued to the Trustee.

If you do not, or the Trustee on your behalf does not, disclose to the Insurer every matter that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, that would be relevant to its decision to accept the risk, the Insurer may avoid the cover in respect of any insurance provided for you within three years of entering into it.

If the Insurer is entitled to avoid insurance cover, it may elect not to avoid it but reduce the sum that you have been insured for in accordance with a formula that takes into account the premium that would have been payable if you, or the Trustee on your behalf, had disclosed all relevant matters to the Insurer.

If your non-disclosure, or the Trustee's non-disclosure on your behalf, is fraudulent, the Insurer may avoid your cover at any time.
